

Converged Infrastructure

Hyper converged infrastructure (HCI) is a convergence of compute and storage infrastructure that is easy to deploy and manage with a single UI

Converged Infrastructure

Hyper converged infrastructure (HCI) is a convergence of compute and storage infrastructure that is easy to deploy and manage with a single UI. HCI removes complex manual steps in deployment and is designed for simplicity. Because it is designed to be administered by virtualization or cloud administrators, HCI eliminates the need for team members with specialized hardware skills in storage, compute, or networking. It scales incrementally and offers substantial storage needs.

- ✓ Improved storage scalability
- ✓ Improved fast, secure, and continuous access to data
- ✓ Reduced cost through improved Total Cost of Ownership
- ✓ Offers seamless cloud connectivity for future expansion
- ✓ Accelerate application performance and improve response time
- ✓ Never lose data with zero-data-loss protection

NetApp HCI

NetApp HCI is an enterprise-scale hyper converged infrastructure that delivers predictable performance on a highly flexible, efficient architecture that is simple to deploy and manage. With NetApp HCI, you can run multiple applications with predictable performance to confidently deploy a hybrid multicloud experience across your entire data center.

Predictable

NetApp HCI solves predictability challenges with industry-leading performance capabilities that allow the granular control of every application. NetApp HCI's performance settings eliminate resource contention and variable application performance.

Flexible

NetApp HCI offers a highly configurable design that enables cloud-native application development and agile operations for virtualized environments. Innovate and deliver applications faster on a platform designed for the applications of today and tomorrow.

Simple

NetApp HCI streamlines installation so that it takes minutes instead of hours, and simple, centralized management with VMware lets you control NetApp HCI through tools you already use. NetApp HCI thus allows you to focus valuable resources on higher priorities that drive business growth.

Get in touch

+264 61 259 678

info@iis.com.na

www.iis.com.na

INTERACTIVE
IT SOLUTIONS

Visit us
www.iis.com.na